Chapter 1 - Overview, Purpose, References

1-1. Overview. The Inspector General (TIG) of the Army has identified five Army inspection principles to assist Commander, The Adjutants General (TAG), Staff Principals, Inspector Generals, and all inspectors in the conduct of Army inspections: (1) Be Purposeful, (2) Coordinated, (3) Feedback Focused, (4) Instructive, and (5) Followed-Up. The components of the USACC OIP are: Command Inspections, Staff Inspections, Staff Assistance Visits, Inspector General Inspections, and the JROTC Inspection Program.

1-2. Purpose. CCR 145-8 establishes policies, objectives, responsibilities, and guidance for the conduct of the USACC OIP. As defined by AR 1-201, the OIP provides the commander an organized management tool to Identify, Prevent, and / or Eliminate problem areas.

NOTE: Above references will not be supplemented without prior approval from the HQCC (ATCC-IG) and are the basis to conduct compliance and staff inspections / assistance visits throughout the USACC. Additional references may be cited in respective inspection checklists.

1-4. Organizational Inspection Program Defined. An evaluation to measure performance against a standard and identify the cause of any deviation. All inspections start with compliance against a standard.

a. Organizational Inspection Program. Commander, USACC program to integrate and coordinate inspections, staff assistance visits / assessments, and audits. This program is a systematic and coordinated process to eliminate duplication of effort, reduce time diverted from other missions, and reduce reporting requirements. It is an integral part of the Commander’s organizational assessment program as outlined in Chapter 5, FM 7-0. The OIP will identify strengths and weaknesses and provide assistance; coordinates inspections and audits into a single, cohesive program focused on command objectives. The USACC OIP Coordinator (OIPC) is charged with developing, coordinating and monitoring the OIP. The OIPC will not physically conduct the various inspections.

b. Command Inspection (CI) Program. Command Inspections are scheduled and formal events led at the Commander Level and consist of the Initial Command Inspection (ICI) and Subsequent Command Inspection (SCI). IAW AR 1-201, Company Commanders (or like
c. Initial Command Inspection (ICI). Commonly known as the change of command inspection, the inspecting commander must participate in the ICI for it to be considered official. The ICI is not used to evaluate the outgoing commander and is used to assist the incoming commander in establishing goals, standards, and priorities.

d. Subsequent Command Inspection (SCI). Commonly known as the follow-on inspection to the ICI and used to measure progress and reinforce goals and objectives established during the ICI. By regulation, AC units will conduct an SCI within 1-year of the ICI; AR and NG units determine the timing of the SCI. Because of the USACC unique task organization and multiple schools assigned to each brigade, the SCI timing and necessity is delegated to discretion of the Brigade Commander.

e. Staff Inspection (SI). Commander directed, led by staff members and focused on a single functional area or a few related areas. The staff inspection is conducted by the lowest level staff member technically qualified in the functional area and is compliance oriented. The SI may stand alone or compliment the CI and/or IG inspection. Examples of an SI include single functional area inspections such as the G1 to S1, G2 to S2, G4 to S4, Safety Inspections, Training Inspections, Physical Security Inspections, Management Controls Inspections, Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program (SAPR), Voting Assistance, Suicide Prevention and Anti-Terrorism and Force Protection.

f. Staff Assistance Visits (SAV). Staff Assistance Visits are not inspections but are teaching and training opportunities that support Staff Inspections and the Command Inspection Program. Staff sections conduct SAVs to assist, teach, and train subordinate staff sections on how to meet the required standards of a particular functional area. A SAV can occur at the discretion of the commander, or a staff principal can request a SAV from the next higher staff echelon. The SAV can be used to prepare for upcoming inspections or training on new concepts, technologies, or operating techniques. The SAV does not produce reports, but it provides feedback to the staff section receiving the assistance visit.

g. Inspector General (IG) Inspections. IG Inspections are governed by AR 20-1 and focus principally on systematic issues which affect multiple command units. IG inspections examine and recommend solutions for problems that command and staff inspections cannot solve at the local level. IG inspections are tailored to meet the commander needs and may focus on units, functional areas, or both. IG inspections can be formal or informal and may use interviews, sensing sessions or other information gathering techniques. IG inspection may be part of the OIP, but focus on CG specifics and not tied to specific timeframes.

h. Junior ROTC Unit Inspection Program. CCR 145-8-2 and CCR 145-8-3 are used to evaluate JROTC units to determine if the school and programs, JROTC Cadre meet and maintain standards, and to identify and appropriately reward those that exceed program standards. There are three major categories in the evaluation system: Cadet Evaluation, school program evaluation, and Director of Army Instruction evaluation. See regulation CCR 145-8-3 for specifics concerning each category. JROTC units will be inspected by uniformed Active Duty, retirees, and/or AR, NG personnel authorized to wear the Army uniform and who meet height-weight standards as described in AR 40-501 or AR 600-9. Additionally, DA civilians may be used to inspect JROTC programs IAW CCR 145-8-3.

Chapter 2 - Inspection Frequency, Scheduling Responsibility

2-1. The following establishes the minimum inspection requirements for USACC subordinate commands. Subordinate Commanders may increase the requirements at their discretion.

Additionally, each Cadet Battalion will receive either a Command/Staff or CDR/CSM visit annually. Brigade Commanders and their S3 will determine the sequencing of inspections and visits. These visits can be conducted as part of the ICI, to eliminate duplicity of effort.

c. JROTC. IAW AR 145-2 and CCR 145-2 JROTC units will receive a Formal Inspection, Assistance Visit, or a complete Unit Report during each school year using CCR 145-8-3. CC Form 187-D-R is completed annually by the JROTC program and forwarded to the Brigade for scoring (see CCR 145-8-3). The Brigades will provide feedback to the units on the points earned. The formal inspection will be conducted every three years on an announced schedule developed by the Brigade Commander. The brigade will ensure an appropriate memorandum of record with justification is provided for programs that fail to receive a formal inspection. Assist Visits will be conducted annually on an announced basis during those years when no Formal Inspection is conducted. Assist Visits are the responsibility of the DAI/SAI and are made by authorized representatives approved by the Brigade Commander.

   (1) JROTC Cadet Formal Inspection--Formal every three years; Staff Assistance Visits will be conducted annually when no Formal Inspection is scheduled.
   (2) School-Program Inspection--Formal every three years; Staff Assistance Visits will be conducted annually when no Formal Inspection is scheduled.

e. Subsequent Command Inspection. AR 1-201 states within 12 months after the Initial Command Inspection for the Active Component. Because of the USACC unique task organization and multiple schools assigned to each brigade, the SCI timing and necessity is delegated to discretion of the Brigade Commander.
f. Inspector General (IG) Inspections. At the direction of the CG, USACC. The IG, USACC may initiate IG Inspections.
